"Because of Bixby's strong foundation, he has a sense of confidence in himself, even in the face of some pretty tough stuff. We hear from teachers that he questions what he reads, that he self-advocates and is comfortable working with a wide variety of people and treats them with kindness, he views the teachers as resources and allies, and perhaps most importantly to us, he has a strong sense of who he is and how he learns, and he's comfortable showing up as himself no matter who else is in the room."
